Duvine Limited is an environmentally conscious organisation that acknowledges the potential impact of operations on the environment and has a number of countermeasures in place. Being a small Company it is much easier to remind staff of the environmental policies that need to be implemented and maintained in their normal course of work. All employees and sub-contractors visiting the site are expected to co-operate and comply. RT UK will take all practical steps to ensure that potential hazards and risks to the environment are identified and that suitable and effective prevent and control measures are implemented.

The company recognises the role of all employees, its legal obligations, relationships with suppliers as well as the necessity to engage with wider political and social issues that are raised from time to time.

Regular reviews are undertaken to ensure that all possible opportunities are taken.
